TAFT MEN WIN IN CONVENTION

Four Delegates-at-Large, Favorable to President Elected in Indianapolis This Afternoon.

J. E. WATSON ONE OF NUMBER

Credentials Committee Decides Contests, Seating Taft Delegates Mostly.

MINORITY REPORT TABLED

Vote on This, Tests Strength of Two Candidates, Taft Winning
772 to 667.

James E. Watson of this city; Harry S. New and Charles W. Fairbanks of Indianapolis, and James D. Oliver of South Bend were this afternoon elected delegates-at-large from Indiana at the Republican State convention in Indianapolis for the national convention to be held in June. They are supporters of President Taft, and will vote for his nomination, as against Theodore Roosevelt's. They were elected by a safe majority.

The comparative strength of the two presidential candidates before the convention was first indicated by the vote on the motion to lay the minority report of the committee on credentials on the table, which was carried by 772 to 667. Unbiased judges have estimated the two contesting forces would line up about that way in the convention.

The majority report of the committee on credentials was passed, and seated the Marion county delegation which stood 127 for Taft and 7 for Roosevelt. The report decided contests in many other districts, including those in the Sixth district. In the main Taft delegates were seated in the convention, but a few Roosevelt delegates managed to slip through. The minority report of the credentials committee charged principally that fraud was practiced in the Marion county primaries.

The report of the committee on resolutions was adopted. The resolutions, which may be found on page four, indorsed the administration of President Taft in glowing terms, and "viewed with alarm" the recall, initiative and referendum theories. No minority report was presented.

Roosevelt supporters, disappointed over their failure to make a sufficient showing to give them control of the convention, were threatening to bolt and hold a rump convention. Their contentions that they had carried all the way from eight to twelve districts in the State faded away when the actual returns came in and the delegates met to make the organization in the district meetings.

As district after district which the Roosevelt people had claimed, supported the President, the hopes of the Roosevelt people fell. Even their contests against the seating of a large number of Taft delegates all over the State, many of them filed merely to make trouble and for effect, were found by the credentials committee to be unfounded, and this added further to their discomfiture.

So when the convention opened there appeared to be for the Roosevelt supporters little hope of anything coming their way, and it was argued by some of them that the only thing left for them was a rump convention.

William L. Taylor, who had been selected for chairman of the convention, could not act since a business engagement demanded his attention, and Will R. Wood of Lafayette.

OSCAR CALHOUNE LEAVES COUNTY

Farm Laborer Employed at Ashland
Farm Previous to Harris Tragedy
Disappears Today.

DISCHARGED BY A FARMER

Authorities Deny That Any Attempt is Being Made to Locate Him.

Interest in the Harris probe was revived to a great extent today when the report became current that Oscar Calhoun, the farm laborer, who was discharged by L. B. Harris the Saturday before the fire on Tuesday, and who moved off the Harris farm two days after the fire had disappeared and was no place to be found. Calhoun was discharged yesterday by W. A. Alexander, by whom he has been employed since moving off the Ashland farm after the fire. He was not ordered to leave at once, but was told by Mr. Alexander that he could look for other work. This morning he rode to Rushville with W. A. Alexander and left the city. It is understood that he sent his wife and baby to her parents' home.

The story was going the rounds that the authorities were trying to locate Calhoun. Coroner A. G. Shauck denied that such was the case. Sheriff Clara Bebout was in Indianapolis today and his deputy, Arthur Kinnear, was not to be found this afternoon. The police said they had not been requested to assist in the search for Calhoun.

Some suspicion has been directed toward Calhoun because he was discharged by Mr. Harris the Saturday before the tragedy, and was ordered to move off the farm the morning before the fire. Calhoun had been working the week following his discharge for James Alexander on a farm adjoining that of L. B. Harris.

Because Calhoun left Ashland farm Thursday following the fire, and because it was told that he had not given a satisfactory explanation for his actions shortly previous to the time the fire was discovered, when he was supposed to have gone to his home, back of the Harris home for dinner, he was alleged to have been suspected.

Evidently the coroner does not think much of the theory as no effort has been made to hold Calhoun; apparently, Calhoun and his wife have testified before the coroner, and it appears that the coroner did not think their evidence of much weight since he has allowed them to leave the city. It was evident this afternoon that little effort, if any, was being made to catch Calhoun.

Coroner A. G. Shauck was in Rushville this afternoon. No regular inquest was held but the coroner stated that he was here in connection with the Harris investigation. He has a number of details to work out yet, it is understood, before he will be prepared to file his verdict.

A. L. RIGGS WINS SEAT ON CONTEST

Local Delegate Given Place on Committee on Credentials at State Convention by 6 to 4.

REPRESENTS SIXTH DISTRICT

Roosevelt Contingent Calls Meeting to Order While Regular Chairman of District is Out.

A. L. Riggs, one of the two Taft delegates elected to the State convention from the city of Rushville, was seated as a member of the credentials committee at a meeting in Indianapolis last night after a very bitter contest. The session was prolonged until early this morning.

When the committee went into session it stood six uncontested members for Taft, four uncontested for Roosevelt, two memberships, from the Sixth and Eleventh districts, contested, and the Third district not represented because of the failure of the delegation to arrive from New Albany.

E. F. Warfel, editor of the Richmond Item, was elected a member of the committee on credentials from the Sixth district by a bit of trickery which was fully realized by other members of the committee, and which resulted in them unseating Warfel and seating A. L. Riggs, who filed a contest on the grounds that Warfel was named when the regular chairman of the district was not in charge of the meeting.

Mr. Riggs claim for a contest on the seating of E. F. Warfel was based on the ground that the Roosevelt men called the meeting to order while Elmer Bassett, acting chairman, was called from the room. Bassett told the committee that Charles H. Campbell, a Roosevelt manager, called him from the room. The committee voted 6 to 4 to seat Riggs on the ground that his opponent, E. T. Warfel of Wayne county, was elected at a meeting that was not duly called to order by the acting chairman.

L. C. Swain, who acted as secretary of the meeting at which Warfel was elected, said the meeting was called to order at 7:33 o'clock, while Acting Chairman Bassett was standing outside the room, and that the Roosevelt men made the claim that because Bassett, the Taft chairman, was in the room promptly at 7:30 o'clock, the "official" hour for the district meeting at which Warfel was elected was irregular.

Charles Hernly of New Castle, former Republican State chairman, told the committee that dozens of men who were in the room where the Sixth district meeting was held, voted for the Roosevelt nominees for the committee by a voice vote, declaring that men who were not accredited delegates voted.

Swain, the acting secretary of the Sixth district meeting, and Warfel, the Roosevelt nominee for the credentials committee, were the only witnesses for the Roosevelt men. Warfel denied that the reason for calling the first meeting by the Roosevelt men, was because Acting Chairman Bassett was out of the room.

J. M. CROSS BREAKS ANKLE AND THUMB

Pulls Barn Door Over on Himself Today and Suffers Severe Injuries.

HURT TWO YEARS AGO IN FALL

James M. Cross, living two and a half miles north of Arlington, pulled a large barn door over on himself this morning and broke his right ankle bone and thumb on his right hand. Mr. Cross was attempting to pick loose the door which was frozen in the ice at the side of the barn. He knocked the door off the track, and it fell on him. Mr. Cross used the pick which he was using to get the door loose, as a crutch to hobble to the house. He called neighbors, and was later taken to the office of Dr. A. G. Shauck in Arlington, where his injuries were dressed.

Mr. Cross suffered the dislocation of the same ankle bone in an accident two years ago. He was on top of a telephone pole when it broke, and he fell to the ground. Ligaments injured that time were torn loose again this morning. Mr. Cross is the father of Mrs. Elmer Readle of this city.

GETS SOUVENIRS FROM SON IN ARMY

The Rev. and Mrs. H. D. Sterrett Receive Valuable Gifts From Port Mills, Manila.

SEND HIM RUSH COUNTY APPLES

The Rev. H. D. Sterrett, pastor of the Glenwood M. E. church, has received word from his son, Corporal Jacob F. Sterrett of the Forty-second company, coast artillery, stationed at Fort Mills, Manila, that a box of apples from Chris King's Rush county orchard, arrived at Manila in good shape. Mr. King's apples took many of the prizes at the first annual State apple show, and went big with the United States army men at Manila, who seldom get a taste of the delicious fruit that is grown in Hoosier orchards.

The Rev. and Mrs. Sterrett have a number of souvenirs from their son which they prize very highly. Among that number is the menu, printed on a Japanese napkin, which the members of his company enjoyed Christmas. They have also the Thanksgiving menu. It is a neat design with a picture of Fort Mills, in several colors, on the front. He has sent his mother an embroidered shirt-waist, worked by hand by native needlewomen. Corporal Sterrett is serving his eighth year. He has been at Manila two years.

THE COLONEL IS NOT PERTURBED

Woman Fails to Ruffle Roosevelt Composure.

MAUD MALONE TO THE FORE

Suffragette With a Record For Disturbing Political Meetings Creates a Storm When She Breaks in on a Roosevelt Gathering With the Inevitable Question: "How About Votes For Women?"

New York, March 26.—While he was swinging through the third of his six speeches on the east side and in the Bronx last night a suffragette rose up in the middle of the audience in Maenherchoir hall and girded at Colonel Roosevelt. The colonel was warning voters that his side was not going to get a square deal in today's primaries.

"How about votes for women, Mr. Roosevelt?" said the lady, with a flick at her tight combed hair. It was Maud Malone, who holds all records for interrupting politicians.

The colonel stilled the rising tumult, waved the chairman, Oscar S. Straus, back to his chair, and replied: "Madam, I have asked that you women shall be allowed to vote to determine whether you shall vote."

At the tail of the laughter that shook the 3,000 people in the hall, came the voice of Miss Malone, quavery, but persistent:

"Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Roosevelt—" Her voice was drowned by cat calls, hisses, jeers and a medley of noises. She had champions, who planted themselves in front of her with clinched fists. Dozens of men started up, threatening to put her out.

"Let me speak," began the colonel, but the band cut him short with a rendition of "Take a Little Tip From Father." Police whistles sounded. Mr. Straus, considerably agitated, looked about for men behind the whistles. The hisses resembled steam escaping from enormous valves. Finally the colonel got a word in edgewise.

"I am particular always to treat any woman with the utmost respect," he ventured, "but—"

"No square deal, Mr. Roosevelt!" quavered the lady.

By this time everybody in the hall was on his feet. Miss Malone, planted firmly, glared at the colonel. The colonel glared back with compound interest. Then a gray special cop charged through the press and persuaded Miss Malone that it was time to go. As she disappeared Colonel Roosevelt said: "This is probably a put-up job on the part of our opponents. I was delighted to answer the question she put in good faith. Anything the women of this country want I want them to have. (Applause.) American men are pretty good fellows, and their wives are better fellows. (Soprano cheers.) Let the women vote first to see whether they want to vote. If that is not the square deal I don't know what is. (Applause.)"

TOOK THE DARE

These Town Officers Not Scared Off by Black Hand Threats.

Haverstraw, N. Y., March 26.—Last night six scared members of the board of assessors of this town and the mayor gathered in the town hall, rushed through the reappointment of John S. Oldfield as village clerk and then in a group escorted by both sheriffs, went to the mayor's house to talk over the threats that have been made against them should they reappoint Oldfield. For the past six weeks this town has been deluged by black hand letters addressed to the members of the board, to the mayor, to Mr. Oldfield, to the chief of police and to the editor of the Rockland County Times, a paper which has been supporting Oldfield for reappointment as village clerk.

The letters threatened that the writers would kidnap children of those addressed, would dynamite barns, set houses on fire and even commit murder unless Oldfield was dropped as village clerk.

Nobody paid any attention to the letters until Sunday night, when several attempts were made to fire the house in which Oldfield lives. The election of the village clerk came last night. There are those who thought it would be postponed by the assessors, but it was not.

Defense Demands Acquittal.

New York, March 26.—There was a whole day of argument in the trial of John E. Parsons and the other officers of the sugar trust over motions made by the defendants that the jury be instructed to acquit without hearing a defense against the case presented by the government. Judge Hand, after listening all day to the reasons adduced for this, reserved his decision.

DEALS WITH STATE'S PROGRESS

Will Tell of Increased Worth of Land and Advances in Industrial Conditions.

Thomas W. Brolley, state statistician is preparing for his forthcoming annual report a series of articles on the various counties, cities and towns of the state based on the data collected by his department during the preceding year and the United States census reports, collected in 1910. It is believed by Mr. Brolley that these articles will be of particular interest and value because of the great changes in industrial conditions in the state during the last decade. The increase in valuation of grain and live stock produced, the advances made in improved school buildings the development of the interurban railway, advances in manufacturing, and the like, will be chronicled.

yet received is that relative to Clinton county, which was prepared by E. H. Staley, a newspaper man, of Frankfort. The request that he prepare the article reached Mr. Staley on his eighty-third birthday. Most of his life was spent in that county, and in his article he has written much of his personal observations of the county's development. When he sent his "copy" to Mr. Brolley, he sent an explanatory note, including the following:

"Please pardon my writing this with a pen, I employed an expert typist to copy it for me, but she made so many mistakes in spelling and punctuation that I let her go, in disgust, and wrote it myself."

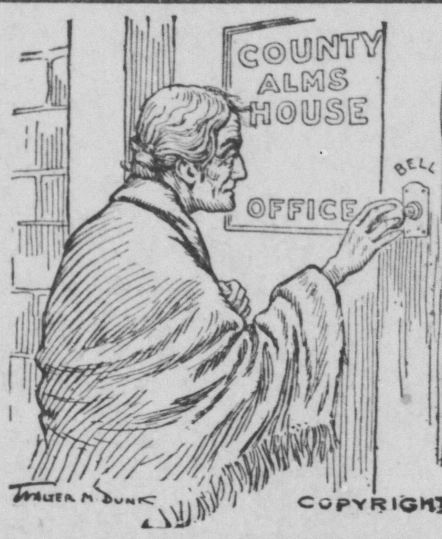

In other counties the superintendents of the public schools have been asked to prepare the articles, except in cities and towns, where the material is being prepared by city and town clerks.

New Dreadnought is a Goer. Rockland, Me., March 26.—The battleship Florida, a ship constructed in a government navy yard, was put through her paces over the measured mile course for standardization purposes, and the highest speed she made, that of 22.54 knots an hour, is not only the fastest ever attained by an American dreadnought, but it is claimed to be a record for her class throughout the world.

ANOTHER VICTIM OF HOLMES'S EVIL EYE

Arch Murderer's Blighting Curse Still Effective.

Philadelphia, March 26.—The prediction made nearly seventeen years ago by H. H. Holmes, the arch-murderer, that anybody having anything to do with his arrest, conviction or execution would meet an untimely death, either by their own hand or otherwise, is once again recalled.

This time the victim is Richard Johnson, forty-eight years old, of Upland street, West Philadelphia, who committed suicide by inhaling illuminating gas. Johnson was a member of the jury which found Holmes guilty of murder in the first degree. Since the execution of Holmes on May 7, 1896, many persons who had connection with the famous murder case have either taken their own lives or met deaths of violence, their fates recalling the curse of Holmes, better known as the "murderer with the evil eye."

ette was appointed in his place. C. F. Bicknell of Ft. Wayne, was the secretary of the convention. Clamor Pelzer of Boonville, was the sergeant-at-arms, and Emmett F. Branch of Martinsville was chief usher.

The prospect was that there would be divided reports from the committee on credentials, the committee on resolutions and the committee on rules and permanent organization. The Taft forces were to present the majority reports and the minority reports were to come from the Roosevelt side. It looked as if there would be a lively fight on the adoption of the reports. Whether the convention would be a long drawn out affair seemed to depend on the kind of "scraps" that were put up for control of the convention organization and on the adoption of committee reports.

The men selected by the Taft people for delegates-at-large were Charles W. Fairbanks, Harry S. New, James E. Watson of Rushville, and James D. Oliver of South Bend. The Roosevelt people had decided on Albert J. Beveridge, Edwin M. Lee, Fred Landis of Logansport and Charles H. Campbell of Shelbyville, as their choice of a slate.

The Rush county delegation to the State convention today consisted of the following men: A. L. Riggs and Robert L. Tompkins of Rushville city; William Posey, Rushville township outside the city; Frank Lawrence, Posey; Alva Hurst, Walker; Dora Jackson, Anderson; Lafayette Peek, Orange; Omer Thompson, Jackson; P. S. Hollowell, Center; Frank McCorkle, Richland; B. F. Martin, Washington; Ora Smith, Union; Jesse Winkler, Noble and Ben Norris, Ripley.

AMUSEMENTS

The Portola offers a Lubin and a Selig picture—one a drama the other a comedy—for tonight. "The Just Verdier" is a powerful drama telling a pathetic and interesting story. The comedy is entitled "A Night Out."

The Princess will have a Vitagraph "A Girl of the West" for the first picture tonight. It is a thrilling and sensational western drama. "Her Little Poet" is an Essanay comedy. Tomorrow night a feature Vitagraph "Chumps" will be shown. In this picture John Bunny, the funny man of the Vitagraph company is featured.

The Palace offers tonight an educational picture in the Rex film, "The Logging Industry." The picture shows a great branch of human endeavor with a sufficiency of human interest. Owing to the great loss of life and the wholesale destruction of timber due to the ruthless and relentless foe of unsettled domains—the forest fire—the government employs fire wardens to make daily inspections of the forests. And then—a great forest fire. In many instances these fires are started through carelessness; but nature makes man pay a dreadful penalty for his negligence. A panoramic view shows the utter destruction caused by the fire. It means more than destruction for the towns around it; it means distraction as well as devastation and destitution. The other picture is "The Locket," an American film. George Hughes gave the widow of his old classmate a cottage because he loves her, but she is indisposed to return his affections on account of his strong desire to gamble. The widow's son has a locket containing a photograph of his (Hughes) mother, which the gambler wishes to have, but as the boy is unwilling to sell it to him Hughes leaves and writes a proposal to the widow. Her refusal incites him to indulge in drink more freely, until he is soon reduced to a derelict. Of course, it ends all right through mysterious circumstances.

The Chalice of Courage

Being the Story of Certain Persons Who Drank of it and Conquered

A Romance of Colorado

Did she seek in him that fine flower of good breeding, gentleness and consideration? Where could she find these qualities better displayed? She was absolutely alone with this man, entirely in his power, shut off from the world and its interference as effectually as if they had both been abandoned in an ice floe at the North Pole or cast away on some lonely island in the South Seas, yet she felt as safe as if she had been in her own house, or her uncle's, with every protection that human power could give. He had never presumed upon the situation in the least degree, he never once referred to the circumstances of their meeting in the remotest way, he never even discussed her rescue from the flood, he never told her how he had borne her through the rain to the lonely shelter of the hills, and in no way did he say anything that the most keenly scrutinizing mind would torture into an allusion to the pool and the bear and the woman. The fineness of his breeding was never so well exhibited as in this reticence. More often than not it is what he does not rather than what he does that indicates the man.

It would be folly to deny that he never thought of these things. Had he forgotten them there would be no merit in his silence; but to remember them and to keep still—aye, that showed the man! He would close his eyes in that little room on the other side of the door and see again the dark pool, her white shoulders, her graceful arms, the lovely face with its crown of sunny hair rising above the rushing water. He had listened to the roar of the wind through the long nights, when she thought him asleep if she thought of him at all, and heard again the scream of the storm that had brought her to his arms. No snow drop that touched his cheek when he was abroad but reminded him of that night in the cold rain when he had held her close and carried her on. He could not sit and mend her boot without remembering that white foot before which he would fain have prostrated himself and upon which he would have pressed passionate kisses if he had given way to his desires. But he kept all these things in his heart, pondered them and made no sign.

Did she ask beauty in her lover? Ah, there at last he failed. According to the canons of perfection he did not measure up to the standard. His features were irregular, his chin a trifle too square, his mouth a thought too firm, his brow wrinkled a little; but he was good to look at for he looked strong, he looked clean and he looked true. There was about him, too, that stamp of practical efficiency that men who can do things always have. You looked at him and you felt sure that what he undertook that he would accomplish, that decision and capability were incarnate in him.

But after all the things are said love goes where it is sent, and I, at least, am not the sender. This woman loved this man neither because nor in spite of these qualities. That they were might account for her affection, but if they had not been, it may be that that affection, that that passion, would have inhabited her heart still. No one can say, no one can tell how or why those things are. She had loved him while she raged against him and hated him. She did neither the one nor the other of those two last things, now, and she loved him the more.

Mystery is a great mover; there is nothing so attractive as a problem we cannot solve. The very situation of the man, how he came there, what he did there, why he remained there, questions to which she had yet no answer, stimulated her profoundly. Because she did not know she questioned in secret; interest was aroused and the transition to love was easy.

Propinquity, too, is responsible for many an affection. "The ivy clings to the first met tree." Given a man and woman heart free and throw them together and let there be decent kindness on both sides, and it is almost inevitable that each shall love the other. Isolate them from the world, let them see no other companions but the one man and the one woman, and the result becomes more inevitable.

Yes, this woman loved this man. She said in her heart—and I am not one to dispute her conclusions—that she would have loved him had he been one among millions to stand before her, and it was true. He was the complement of her nature. They differed in temperament as much as in complexion, and yet in those differences as must always be to make perfect love and perfect union, there were striking resemblances, necessary points of contact.

There was no reason whatever why Enid Maitland should not love this man. The only possible check upon her feelings would have been her rather anomalous relation to Armstrong, but she reflected that she had promised him definitely nothing. When she had met him she had been heart whole, he had made some impression upon her fancy and might have made more with greater opportunity, but unfortunately for him, luckily for her, he had not enjoyed that privilege. She scarcely thought of him longer.

She would not have been human if her mind had not dwelt upon the world beyond the sky-line on the other side of the range. She knew how those who loved her must be suffering on account of her disappearance, but knowing herself safe and realizing that within a short time, when the spring came again, she would go back to them and that their mourning would be turned into joy by her arrival, she could not concern herself very greatly over their present feelings and emotions; and besides, what would be the use of worrying over those things? There was metal more

An Easy and Very Successful Treatment.
Try This Remedy at Our Risk.

You know what ringworm looks like—starting as a little circular patch of tiny pimples, which dry up into scales and are followed by another crop on the outer edge, thus enlarging the ring all the time.

It may be caught from other children, and from dogs and cats. Tincture of iodine is the old remedy, but we have a better one now—Saxon Salve, our new skin remedy.

Apply Saxon Salve a few times (as directed by the book in the box) and the ringworm vanishes. Saxon Salve so saturates the skin with its powerful, yet soothing ingredients, that the ringworm parasites are destroyed. Of course, Saxon Salve has many other uses. All kinds of skin eruptions and disorders, eczema, barber's itch and tetter yield to Saxon Salve. It is a wonderful remedy and we guarantee it most positively. F. B. Johnson & Co. attractive for her thoughts close at hand. And she was too blissfully happy to entertain for more than a moment any sorrow.

She pictured often her return and never by any chance did she think of going back to civilization alone. The man she loved would be by her side, the church's blessing would make them one. To do her justice, in the simplicity and purity of her thoughts she never once thought of what the world might say about that long winter sojourn alone with this man. She was so conscious of her own innocence and of his delicate forbearance, she never once thought how humanity would raise its eyes and fairly cry upon her from the house tops. She did not realize that were she ever so pure and so innocent she could not now or ever reach the high position which Caesar, who was none too reputable himself, would fain have his wife enjoy!

CHAPTER XV.

The Man's Heart.

Now, love produces both happiness and unhappiness, but on the whole I think the happiness predominates, for love itself if it be true and high is its own reward. Love may feel itself unworthy and may shrink even from the unlatching of the shoe lace of the beloved, yet it joys in its own existence nevertheless. Of course its greatest satisfaction is in the return, but there is a sweetness even in the despair of the truly loving.

Enid Maitland, however, did not have to endure indifference, or fight against a passion which met with no response, for this man loved her with a love that was greater even than her own. The moon, in the trite aphorism, looks on many brooks, the brook sees no moon but the one above him in the heavens. In one sense his merit in winning her affection for himself from the hundreds of men she knew, was the greater; in many years he had only seen this one woman. Naturally she should be everything to him. She represented to him not only the woman but womankind. He had been a boy practically when he had buried himself in those mountains, and in all that time he had seen nobody like Enid Maitland. Every argument which had been exploited to show why she should love him could be turned about to account for his passion for her. They are not necessary, they are all supererogatory, idle words. To him also love had been born in an hour. It had flashed into existence as if from the fiat of the Divine.

Oh, he had fought against it. Like the cremes of old he had been scourged into the desert by remorse and another passion, but time had done its work. The woman he first loved had ministered not to the spiritual side of the man, or if she had so ministered in any degree it was because he had looked at her with a

Is an almost certain result of kidney trouble. D. Toomey, 803 E. Olive street, Bloomington, Ill., says: "I suffered with backache and pains in my kidneys which were almost unbearable. I gave Foley Kidney Pills a good trial, and they done wonders for me. Today I can do a hard day's work and not feel the effects." F. B. Johnson & Co.

glamour of inexperience and youth. During those five years of solitude, of study and of reflection, the truth had gradually unrolled itself before him. Conclusions vastly at variance with what he had ever believed possible as to the woman upon whom he had first bestowed his heart, had got into his being and were in solution there; this present woman was the precipitant which brought them to life. He knew now what the old appeal of his wife had been. He knew now what the new appeal of this woman was.

In humanity two things in life are inextricably intermingled, body and soul. Where the function of one begins and the function of the other ends no one is able to say. In all human passions are admixtures of the earth earthly. We are born the sons of old Adam as we are reborn the sons of the New. Passions are complex. As in harvest wheat and tares grow together until the end, so in love earth and heaven mingle ever. He remembered a clause from an ancient marriage service he had read. "With my body I thee worship," and with every fibre of his physical being, he loved this woman.

It would be idle to deny that, impossible to disguise the facts, but in the melting pot of passion the preponderant ingredient was mental and spiritual; and just because higher and holier things predominated, he held her in his heart a sacred thing. Love is like a rose; the material part is the beautiful blossom; the spiritual factor is the fragrance which abides in the rose jar even after every leaf has faded away, or which may be expressed from the soft petals by the hard circumstances of pain and sorrow until there is left nothing but the lingering perfume of the flower.

The "Child's Welfare" movement has challenged the attention of thoughtful people everywhere. Mothers are natural supporters, and will find in Foley's Honey and Tar Compound a most valuable aid. Coughs and colds that unchecked lead to croup, bronchitis and pneumonia yield quickly to the healing and ceased. It can't be beat." F. B. Johnson & Co.

THE MEN AND WOMEN

Who Enjoy the Choicest Products of the World's Commerce.

Knowledge of What is Best More Important Than Wealth Without It.

It must be apparent to every one that qualities of the highest order are necessary to enable the best of the products of modern commerce to attain to universal acceptance. However loudly heralded, they may not hope for world-wide pre-eminence unless they meet with the general approval, not of individuals only, but of the many who have the happy faculty of selecting and enjoying the choicest products. Their commendation, consequently, becomes important to others, since to meet the requirements of the well-informed of all countries the methods of manufacture must be of the most perfect order and the combination the most excellent of its kind. After thirty years of general usage, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is everywhere accepted as the best of family laxatives. Its quality is due not only to the excellence of the laxative and carminative principles of plants known to act most beneficially on the system, but also to the method of manufacture of the California Fig Syrup Co., which ensures that uniformity and purity essential in a remedy intended for family use. It cleanses and sweetens the system effectually, when a laxative is needed, without any unpleasant after effects. To get the beneficial effects of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, buy of your druggist the genuine only, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—printed on the front of every package; one size only, price, 50 cents per bottle.

was at first met with more or less opposition, prejudice and hostility. But true merit wins and for this reason THE IMPERISHABLE SILO at once wins the favor of all "good builders", who wish a structure permanent, economical and satisfactory. Its patented hollow blocks of vitrified clay have double dead air spaces to prevent severe freezing. They absorb no moisture and will never crumble or decay. An IMPERISHABLE SILO never blows down, which is in marked contrast with stave silos. Superior to concrete for it is acid-proof and non-porous. It keeps the silage perfectly clear up to the wall. Cannot crack or bulge from pressure of silage as the channel blocks carry steel bars buried in mortar, protected from air and cannot rust. These afford abundant strength and are warranted to resist silage pressure

Basis of Vigorous Fight In Today's Convention.

REPUBLICANS IN TURMOIL

State Convention to Name Delegates-at-Large to the National Convention at Chicago Has Developed the Bitterest Fight That Ever Has Been Waged in the Ranks of the Republican Party in This State.

Indianapolis, March 26.—Tomlinson hall was filled to its utmost capacity today when Fred Sims, chairman of the Indiana state Republican committee, brought his gavel down with a resounding bang, calling the Republican state convention to order. Much attention has been paid to the contest which has been waged in this state over the selection of delegates to the national convention, and everybody expected the warmest kind of a fight, and of course they all wanted to see it. Beside the 1,439 accredited delegates there were almost as many others who had been defeated in county contests who came expecting possibly to be seated as the result of many contests which had been filed before the credentials committee. Most of the alternates also had seized the opportunity to witness what promised to be a real Kilkeny affair, hence there was small chance for the mere onlooker to find a place in the historic old convention hall. Hundreds of these, however, managed to squeeze in, literally packing the hall to its farthest gallery. The Taft partisans and the Roosevelt partisans seemed about equally strong in lung power, and the alternate cheers of the rival claimants created a din such as seldom has been heard in that place of ingathering.

At the hour of convening there was no longer any question that Mr. Roosevelt's managers were contemplating a bolt and the selection by a rump convention of a contesting delegation. About the Roosevelt headquarters nothing had been heard except denunciations of the methods of Taft's supporters in the selection of delegates and the threat to hold a separate convention, after the committee on credentials had seated the Taft delegates. This purpose was further testified to by the fact that attorneys in the employ of the Roosevelt managers for hours had been busy making out affidavits for delegates who claimed that they were chosen but defrauded out of their rights. On the face of the exact returns from all the conventions and primaries Taft had 823 delegates in the convention and Roosevelt 606. There were contested seats ranging from 1 to 20 in numbers of counties and the contestants all came here making claims of fraud. No wonder there was interest in the meeting, and no wonder the crowd was looking for a fight. The program as "doped out" in advance has it that after the regular convention, controlled by friends of President Taft, has elected Charles W. Fairbanks, Harry S. New, James E. Watson and Joseph D. Oliver of South Bend as the regular delegates at large to the national convention, as planned, the defeated Roosevelt men will hold a rump convention in Tomlinson hall and select Albert J. Beveridge, Edwin M. Lee, Fred Landis of Logansport and Orin D. Brown of Terre Haute as their choice for delegates at large, in order to be able to carry a contest to the national convention.

Edwin M. Lee, the Roosevelt manager in this state, declined to make any statement for publication in regard to plans for the convention, or to say anything about what their strength would be on the floor, but Harry S. New, Republican national committeeman and Taft manager for Indiana, made the following statement:

"There is no question in the world that the friends of President Taft will control the convention, with a majority of at least 150 delegates. I am not claiming anything that I am not sure we have won. This will mean that President Taft will get twenty delegates sure in Indiana, with a possibility of twenty-two."

Will R. Wood of Lafayette acted as temporary chairman of the convention and in addressing the delegates confined himself to safe, general principles of party policy and party achievement, carefully avoiding any reference to the intense partisan fight which has developed in the ranks of the party over the rival ambitions of Taft and Roosevelt. C. F. Bicknell of Fort Wayne was named for secretary, Clamor Pelzer of Booneville sergeant-at-arms, and Emmet F. Branch of Martinsville chief doorkeeper.

Couldn't Endure Separation.

Evansville, Ind., March 26.—Grief over the death of his wife, four months ago, caused the death of the Rev. B. E. L. Condit, aged eighty, at the home of his sister at Tennyson, Ind. The Rev. Mr. Condit lived in Evansville and was one of the best known ministers in southern Indiana. A short time after the aged minister and his wife celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary, four months ago, Mrs. Condit died. He never rallied from the shock and prayed almost constantly for death, saying he wished to join his wife.

TELLS WOMEN HOW TO HAVE CHARMING HAIR

Rough, coarse hair is unnecessary; so is faded, dull looking hair.

Dandruff and scalp itch are both caused by an accumulation of scurfy filth and can easily be gotten rid of.

Dandruff germs cause falling hair and disease of the hair and scalp, and should be destroyed.

If you have any of the hair troubles mentioned above F. B. Johnson & Co. will guarantee PARISIAN SAGE to end everyone of them or will refund your money.

PARISIAN SAGE is a delightful hair dressing that is being used today by many thousands of lovely Americans who detest uncleanness. Large bottle 50 cents.

BEEF TRUST CASE

Jury in Federal Court Deliberating on Verdict.

Chicago, March 26.—"Did these defendants conspire and combine in restraint of trade?"

In this terse question Federal Judge Carpenter put the fate of the ten Chicago packers who have been on trial for fifteen weeks in the court squarely up to the jury, and the body is deliberating on its verdict.

Judge Carpenter began his instructions to the jury immediately following the concluding address by Government Attorney Pierce Butler of St. Paul. The instructions of the court were long, precise, and delivered slowly.

Judge Carpenter in his charge included an interpretation of the Sherman anti-trust act, the law under which the packers have been prosecuted, and a somewhat extended review of the evidence.

Made Him an Exile.

New York, March 26.—A divorce suit which caused Ulysses Monroe Roberts to be dropped from his job as vice president of Chase, Roberts & Co., varnish manufacturers, and to leave the state, and which followed an early morning visit by a raiding party to an apartment house in West Thirty-eighth street, resulted in a decree of divorce for Mrs. Jeanne Roberts.

CHILDREN INJURED

Ordinary Cathartics and Pills and Harsh Physic Cause Distressing Complaint.

You cannot be over-careful in the selection of medicine for children. Only the very gentlest bowel medicine should be given, except in emergency cases. Ordinary pills, cathartics and purgatives are apt to do more harm than good. They may cause griping, nausea and other distressing after-effects that are frequently health-destroying.

We personally recommend and guarantee Rexall Orderlies as the safest and most dependable remedy, which we know, for constipation and associate bowel disorders. We have such absolute faith in the virtues of this remedy that we see it on our guarantee of money back in every instance where it fails to give entire satisfaction, and we urge all in need of such medicine to try it at our risk.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten just like candy, are particularly prompt and agreeable in action, may be taken at any time, day or night; do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, griping, excessive looseness, or other undesirable effects. They have a very mild but positive action upon the organs with which they come in contact, apparently acting as a regulative tonic upon the relaxed muscular coat of the bowels, thus overcoming weakness, and aiding to restore the bowels to more vigorous and healthy activity.

Rexall Orderlies commonly completely relieve constipation, except of course when of a surgical character. They also tend to overcome the necessity of constantly taking laxatives to keep the bowels in normal condition. Three sizes of packages, 10 cents, 25 cents, and 50 cents. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Rushville only at our store—The Rexall Store, Lytle's Drug Store, Corner Third and Main.

C. A. Glossner, 24 Ontario St., Rochester, N. Y., has recovered from a long and severe attack of kidney trouble, his cure being due to Foley Kidney Pills. After detailing his case, he says: "I am only sorry I did not learn sooner of Foley Kidney Pills. In a few day's time my backache completely left me and I felt greatly improved. My kidneys became stronger, dizzy spells left me and I was no longer annoyed at night. I feel 100 per cent. better since using Foley Kidney Pills." F. B. Johnson & Co.

TAFT MEN HAVE ENOUGH TO WIN

Unbiased Survey of District Indicates 54 Delegates are Pledged For the President.

52 FOR THEODORE ROOSEVELT

One or More Contests Will Likely be Filed by Roosevelt Contingent Thursday.

It will be necessary to take issue with the two or three newspapers in the Sixth district which insist on giving the Roosevelt wing of the Republican party a majority of the delegates to the district convention which will be held in Connersville Thursday afternoon. It is very true that the final result of the convention is in doubt, but if there is any advantage for either candidate, it is for Taft. Two delegates to the national convention will be named.

The newspapers in the county seats of the eight counties in the district have been consulted for the actual standing of the delegates to the district convention. Some of the newspapers lean toward the president, and others favor the ex-president. The standing from an unbiased viewpoint, is as follows:

	Total	Taft	T. R.
Rush	14	10	4
Wayne	26	7	19
Union	5	5	0
Franklin	7	7	0
Henry	18	14	4
Fayette	11	1	10
Hancock	10	3	7
Shelby	15	7	8

Total 106 54 52

If the delegates vote as they are reported to have been pledged, two Taft delegates will be elected to the national convention. It is very likely that the convention will be a stormy one. If the Roosevelt contingent of the Sixth district acts as it has in other districts where the vote was very close, there will be trouble in Connersville. Not only in other States, but right here in Indiana, Roosevelt followers, when they were in a minority, left the convention and held a meeting of their own.

This happened in the First Indiana district at Evansville and in the Fourth Indiana at North Vernon yesterday. In both instances the Roosevelt forces were in a hopeless minority, and they withdrew from the hall, held a "rump" convention and elected two delegates to the national convention. The Chicago convention promises to be flooded with contests on delegations, made by Roosevelt followers, and if none of them are any more just than those so far contested in Indiana, there will be little doubt but what the Taft delegations will be seated.

The Richmond Palladium, a Roosevelt newspaper, gives Roosevelt 56 delegates and Taft 44. The discrepancy of six is accounted for in the six votes from Henry county which will be contested by the Roosevelt forces. The Palladium divides the Shelby county delegation six to nine in favor of Roosevelt when the Shelbyville Republican speaks as follows of the vote there:

"As reported Roosevelt gets eleven

tive on the committee on resolutions, and Elmer Bassett of Shelbyville, member from the Sixth district on the committee on rules and organization, at a meeting of the Sixth district delegates to the State convention in Indianapolis last night, after the Roosevelt contingent had called the meeting, while the regular chairman was out of the room, and named members of the three committees.

Former District Chairman Elmer Bassett of Shelbyville, who presented credentials from District Chairman Linus P. Meredith of Richmond, empowering him to act as chairman of the meeting was effecting a compromise in the Shelby county delegation when the Roosevelt men elected Thomas Jessup of Richmond for permanent chairman and Zell C. Swain of Henry county for permanent secretary. Mr. Bassett was out of the room when Mr. Jessup was nominated. He hurried into the room when he saw the convention was getting down to business and assisted by Charles F. Hernly of Newcastle, attempted to have Mr. Jessup unseated. Mr. Jessup had considerable difficulty in obtaining order, but he finally ruled, at the suggestion of Judge Edward Jackson of Newcastle, that only delegates would be recognized by the chair. There were frequent outcries from the Henry county delegation where there was a contested delegation.

Charles F. Hernly nominated Judge Edward Jackson of Newcastle as the Taft candidate for the committee on resolutions while T. J. Morgan of Hancock county nominated T. E. Bryson of Fayette county as the Roosevelt candidate. The vote was 58 to 36 in favor of Bryson, 12 votes of the Henry county delegation not being counted.

Judge Jackson called the attention of Chairman Jessup to the fact that the contested delegates had no right to vote. The work of nominating a member of the committee on resolutions was taken up amidst much clamor and noise. Frequent appeals were made by the chair to the squad of patrolmen in the room to clear the aisles.

E. F. Warfel of Richmond was nominated as a member of the committee on credentials by the Roosevelt forces, while A. L. Riggs of this city was placed in the field by the Taft men. Warfel won, 57 to 34.

James F. Reed of Hancock county was the Roosevelt candidate for the committee on rules and organization, while the Taft men nominated Elmer Bassett of Shelbyville. The vote was as follows: Reed won, 58 to 48.

The Taft faction was clamoring wildly at this juncture and Charles Hernly of Newcastle asked all members of the faction to stay in the room as another convention would be held. Shouts of derision from the Roosevelt forces greeted Mr. Hernly and Chairman Jessup asked the officers to eject Mr. Hernly from the room. "You are not a delegate," shouted a Roosevelt man. "I am a delegate," shouted Mr. Hernly, "and I have a proxy in my pocket. Let all Taft men stay here in this room."

Thomas Jessup was nominated for vice-president and Zell C. Swain was nominated for assistant secretary of the State convention by the Roosevelt forces while the Taft men were shouting at the top of their voices.

Mr. Jessup then declared the convention adjourned.

While more than 200 men were crying wildly Elmer Bassett mounted a chair in the front of the room and made a warm speech in which he declared that the convention did not smack of true Republicanism. His remarks were greeted by cries of disapproval by the Roosevelt men while the Taft leaders urged him to proceed.

While the Roosevelt men were howling wildly the Taft men selected James J. Jones of Newcastle as permanent chairman and A. L. Riggs of Rushville as permanent secretary, and the Taft slate was elected.

townships and Taft three in Shelby county, with the votes divided Roosevelt 8 and Taft 7."

The Palladium divided the Rush county delegation eleven to three when it should be ten to four in the district, and gave Roosevelt a solid delegation to the district convention from Fayette county, when it should be ten to one in Roosevelt's favor. Hancock county, according to reports to both metropolitan newspapers is seven to three in the former president's favor, while the Palladium insists it should be eight to two.

The Roosevelt followers attempted to storm the Newcastle convention last Friday night, which accounts for the contest which they will file on six city delegates. The Newcastle Courier says, however:

"Complete returns received by the Republican county committee from the conventions held in the various townships last Friday to select delegates to the Republican district and State conventions, show that the total vote in the county is divided with thirteen for Taft and five for Roosevelt in the State convention, and fourteen for Taft and four for Roosevelt in the district convention."
